Executives Ortiz and Garcia have over 25 years of scientific delivering sustainable solutions that have real world impact. Through screen share, Ortiz and Ortiz presented Aurum Technologies’ commitment for transforming waste with assistance from current biotechnologies, Genetics, Sequencing and Biotech Engineering. Aurum Technologies: Transforming Waste into Gold through Industrial Biotech Aurum Technologies was founded by three principles: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Waste Management – as populations increase, there is an increase in waste. 2. Water Shortages – as populations increase, there are water shortages which occur with differing severity in various locations like New Mexico and the ‘Borderplex’ region where Aurum Technologies is located in El Paso. 3. Soil Desertification – with water shortages, populations face soil desertification.

		Aurum Technologies is an Industrial Biotech Startup company with two divisions that enhance each other Manufacturing – utilizes ‘Biochar Production’. Biochar is 95% - 99% carbon. The manufacturing process involves transforming various waste streams into the biochar. Aurum Technologies current waste streams are pecans, wood, and coffee grounds. Biotechnology – Production is enhanced with a ‘Directed Evolution’ platform. Microbes are placed in differing stressors in which different applications are assigned to these microbes for varying industries. Aurum Technologies current industry foci are Agriculture, Defense and Aerospace. AURUM’S PROCESS Aurum Technologies’ current process involves collecting different waste streams that go through advanced manufacturing to produce Premium Biochar. Biochar has a spongelike quality for filtering impurities and is used as a soil supplement. Benefits of ‘Biochar’ Waste Repurposing -Reduces landfill use, landfill leachate, and landfill emissions Soil Regeneration and Water Conservation -Water conservation accounts for up to 40% less water use -Crop yield increase 5-10% -Increased soil regeneration Forestry & Carbon Credit Management - Aurum Technologies waste management allows wood to be sourced ethically while reducing forest fire severity and frequency
